Short Bio:

- I have been coaching a variety of youth sports for about 10 years including soccer, baseball, basketball, and mountain biking. Beyond coaching, I am a father of 2 teenage girls, husband, girl scout leader, a church youth advisor, and school volunteer. Life is certainly more than soccer, but not when you are on the field! Time to leave it all behind and give all you have.
- Growing up, I played a different sport each season (soccer, baseball, and basketball). I was never the natural super star in any sport, but I was always the hardest and most efficient worker. Through solid commitment and extremely hard work and dedication, I achieve my goals.
- Building a team is only possible when staying positive and having fun. Focus on each player's individual goals and help them understand their strengths and use them to help the team! It is not about winning games but helping a team work extremely hard together to achieve goals and accomplish things beyond what they thought possible.
- This is my coaching philosophy. Commit as a United team. Set your goals. Have fun, be safe, and give it everything you have (mind, muscle, and spirit) to surpass those goals – together.
