

Boundaries are your local high school attendance lines

1. Never played before: bound to local league A in which high school you will be attending
2. If played last year with league A, yet are bound to league B, and want to continue with league A, you may be grand fathered in for the year. You also may continue in league A until your age eligibility has expired. In this scenario, a release is not required. A document of this must be on file with league A stating this situation.
3. If played last year and/or played previous years and are bound to league A, unhappy and want to play in league B, then a release is required.
4. Played last year in league A, yet are bound to league B, then are free to go to league B without a required release. A document of this must be on file with league with league A and league B stating this situation.
