 - i. T-Ball does not keep score.
- c. A BATTER is an offensive player who takes his position in the batter's box and attempts to hit a ball thrown to him by the pitcher.

If the game ball's two colored seams are not clearly visible to the Head Umpire then the game will be called due to darkness.
- m. An INNING is that portion of a game within which the teams alternate on offense and defense and in which there are three OUTS for each team. Each team's time at bat is a half-inning.
 - i. A T-Ball inning is over when all batters have had 1 turn at bat.
- n. When three offensive players are legally put out, or the maximum number of batters has batted, that team takes the field and the opposing team becomes the offensive team.

14. How a Team Scores

- a. One run shall be scored each time a runner legally advances to and touches first, second, third and home base before three men are put out to end the inning.

EXCEPTION: A run is not scored if the runner advances to home base during a play in which the third out is made (1) by the batter-runner before he touches first base; (2) by any runner being forced out; or (3) by a preceding runner who is declared out because he failed to touch one of the bases.

15. How the Game Is Played

- a. The players of the home team shall take their defensive positions, the first batter of the visiting team shall take his position in the batter's box, the umpire shall call "Play" and the game shall start.

- c. The batting order shall be followed throughout the game unless a player is removed for injury. In that case the next batter shall bat.
 - i. T-Ball may rotate the first batter each inning.
 - ii. Batting out of order: The umpire's copy of the batting order is the official batting order. An out of order batter is defined as a batter who has taken at least one pitch out of turn. An offensive coach can call time and replace the out of order batter with the correct batter. The correct batter assumes the current count. A defensive coach can call time and have the out of order batter called out by the head umpire. If an out of order batter or batters are discovered after they get on base the batting order will resume with the correct batter. The Batter or batters on - base remain on base. The out of order batters on base or that have scored will be skipped should they come up again in the order.

- d. Each player of the offensive team shall bat in the order that his name appears in his team's batting order.
 - e. The first batter in each inning after the first inning shall be the player whose name follows that of the last player who legally completed his time at bat in the preceding inning.
 - f. A batter has legally completed his time at bat when he is put out or becomes a runner.
 - g. A batter may be put out, and must return to the bench, in any of the following ways –
 - i. The batter releases the bat during the swing. All runners must return to the bases they occupied before the batter was called out.
 - ii. His fair or foul FLY BALL is legally caught by a fielder (catch);
 1. A foul ball that strikes the backstop is immediately a dead ball and no play may be made.
 2. T-Ball – no play may be made on a ball after it crosses the secondary line.
 - iii. After he hits a fair ball, he or first base is tagged before he touches first base;
 - iv. Third strike is called
 1. A called or swinging strike is a strike no matter if the catcher catches the ball or not.
 - h. The batter becomes a runner and is entitled to first base without liability to be put out when –
 - i. Four "balls" have been called by the umpire; NOTE only Senior division players can be walked.
 - ii. He is touched by a pitched ball which he is not attempting to hit unless (1) The ball is in the strike zone when it touches the batter, or (2) The batter makes no attempt to avoid being touched by the ball;
 - iii. T-Ball batters cannot strike out or walk. They must put the ball in play.
 - i. The batter becomes a runner and is liable to be put out when –
 - i. He hits a FAIR BALL;
 - a. T-Ball – if a batted ball strikes a player or umpire and crosses the secondary line, play will immediately be stopped and runners awarded the next closest base in relation to the halfway mark between bases.
 - j. The Runner: A runner acquires the right to an unoccupied base when he touches it before he is put out. He is then entitled to it until he is put out, or forced to vacate it for another runner legally entitled to that base.
 - i. In advancing, a runner shall touch first, second, third and home base in order. If forced to return, he shall retouch all bases in reverse order, unless the ball is dead. In such cases, the runner may go directly to his original base.
 - ii. Two runners may not occupy a base, but if, while the ball is alive, two runners are touching a base, and the following runner shall be out when tagged. The preceding runner is entitled to the base.
 - iii. Each runner including the batter-runner may, without liability to be put out, advance –
 1. To home base, scoring a run, if a fair ball goes out of the playing field in flight and he touched all bases legally; This is called a HOMERUN

 - v. They are touched by a base coach during live play.
 1. T-Ball – this rule does not apply.
 - vi. They are tagged, when the ball is alive, while off their base.
EXCEPTION: A batter-runner cannot be tagged out after overrunning or over sliding first base if he returns immediately to the base and makes no attempt towards second base.
 - vii. He fails to retouch his base after a fair or foul fly ball is legally caught before he, or his base, is tagged by a fielder. He shall not be called out for failure to retouch his base after the first following pitch, or any play or attempted play. This is an appeal play;
 - viii. He fails to reach the next base before a fielder tags him or the base, after he has been forced to advance by reason of the batter becoming a runner. However, if a following runner is put out on a force play, the force is removed and the runner must be tagged to be put out. The force is removed as soon as the runner touches the base to which he is forced to advance, and if he overslides or overruns the base, the runner must be tagged to be put out. However, if the forced runner, after touching the next base, retreats for any reason towards the base he had last occupied, the force play is reinstated, and he can again be put out if the defense tags the base to which he is forced;

EXAMPLE of when a runner is forced to run:

When the batter hits a fair ball he must run to first base. If a runner is on first base, that runner is forced to run to second. If a runner is on second and no runner is on first, the runner at second is NOT forced to run when the batter hits a fair ball, because first base is vacant.

- ix. He is touched by a fair ball in fair territory before the ball has touched or passed an infielder. The ball is dead and no runner may score, nor runners advance, except runners forced to advance.
 - x. He passes a preceding runner before such runner is out;
 - xi. He fails to return at once to first base after overrunning or oversliding that base. If he attempts to run to second he is out when tagged. If, after overrunning or oversliding first base he starts toward the dugout, or toward his position, and fails to return to first base at once, he is out, on appeal, when he or the base is tagged;
 - xii. In running or sliding for home base, he fails to touch home base and makes no attempt to return to the base, when a fielder holds the ball in his hand, while touching home base, and appeals to the umpire for the decision.
 - xiii. If a base runner misses a base (except home plate, see 16.d), the umpire will not comment on the play until the missed base is appealed by the opposing team, at which time he/she will call the runner safe or out. All appeals must be done after play is dead and prior to the next pitch. The base runner must be identified and the missed base must be named. A defensive player must touch the missed base with the ball in hand to complete the appeal.
 - xiv. First base and home may be overrun, second and third may not.
- I. A play is over when:
- i. T-Ball – The home plate umpire declares play dead when the ball crosses the pitcher's circle line as the result of a defensive player's actions. For example a defensive player can pick up the ball and run into the pitcher's circle. A defensive player can throw the ball to the pitcher's circle. The pitcher doesn't have to be in the circle or make an attempt to catch the ball. The ball can pass through the circle and play will be called dead. This includes the last batter.

16. Secondary Line and Overthrows

- a. In the event of an unintentional overthrow, play will be stopped immediately and runners awarded the next base.
