

Additional Training Session Policy

Additional practice session opportunities are open to all Chiefs FC players under the following conditions:

- 1) Chiefs players are expected to meet the practice demands of their primary team first, by attending two team practices, prior to requesting to attend a third practice session with another team.

- 2) Optional additional training sessions must be communicated with the player's primary coach for discussion first, prior to a player scheduling a third session. Communication with the primary coach can help identify the suited additional team, based on the individual needs of the player's development.

- 3) The additional practice session may take the place of a regular scheduled session, as long as the primary coach agrees. IE, a player who misses a practice due to illness or a school event can make up a practice session, as long as the player meets the consistent practice demands of the primary coach and team.

- 4) The coaching staff is expected to uphold and follow the guidelines above. It is Chief's policy for a requesting coach to communicate with the primary coach to discuss first, in person, through text or email, prior to reaching an agreement with a player or parent. This includes any requests for a player to club pass in regular season games, guest play in tournaments and/or participate in third night practice sessions as described above.

Please feel free contact Neil McNab and Matt Holmes if you've any questions.
